Overview

- 8 Pockets hold 8.5" wide x 11" high literature
- Unbeatable when space is an issue
- Assembles in seconds
- Disassembles for easy transport
- Comes complete with its own handy carrying case

This magazine display is easy to set-up in just seconds. The literature rack, also known as a magazine display has 8 pockets for more literature display capabilities. The magazine display can hold a wide array of information such as magazines, publications, brochures, and various other literature. A literature holder, such as this magazine display is easily set up by merely unrolling it and attaching the tension rod.

This magazine display is made of durable silver mesh. The magazine display comes with eight pockets instead of the usual four, yet still weighs less than 5 pounds! Each pocket on these literature racks is 8.5" x 11". We sell this magazine display with sewn in metal rods between the pockets to keep the literature rack standing nicely and help keep its taut, professional appearance. These magazine displays also come with a silver tension pole to keep the literature rack standing firmly in place. We sell this magazine display with a slip resistant metal footing piece so that literature holder is sure to stay in place. The literature rack, also known as a magazine display, has a metal bar on the top and bottom that connect the tension pole to the metal footing piece. The magazine display also come with a convenient carrying bag to make portability a cinch!
